This is the BEST AFRICAN FOOD in North Carolina.

Found the restaurant using the rewards website, so for the first time I saw more value from the program (usually we have restaurants we like already). This was a great, very different, very good selection of foods from all around Africa and it seemed to be a great representation of a home-cooked meal might be. We'll definitely be back to try more dishes.

Very friendly and helpful owner who likes to interact with guests. They are very willing to prepare dishes to suit our tastes (in terms of spiciness). Very interesting and delicious dishes, appetizers, and drinks. Tropical lemonade is wonderful! And if you like spicy, they've got your spicy. Just tell them, then be careful!

I had the DB and it was excellent. I got to taste several of the desserts and all were excellent. Very different combinations that really went together well.

I loved the spices/flavors in my food. My only complaint would be I wished they had wine to drink.

MAWA is one of our favorite restaurants in the Triangle. We've since been back already and will make it a priority for dining!

The food here was spectacular. I happened to notice it being added to the list of participating restaurants about the same time an article came out in the N&O giving high praises. The chef/owner was very welcoming, her food excellent, and the service was wonderful. She made sure that we knew what the dishes were, how spicy, etc. We are definitely going back. As an added bonus, my husband had spent some time in Africa as a boy with his family and said it was the best African food he had tasted since coming back to the states over 42 yrs ago.

A great place, good food, and hospitable hosts. Glad it was on the list so we could know about it's existence.

The food was well worth the wait while it was prepared from scratch.

everything was excellent about this place.. great atmosphere, staff and the food "MMMmmmm!" I got a Yassa chicken dish from the Casamance, Senagal region.. I got it with the fried plantain and jollof. The portions are very generous, therefore I had to box half of everything up.. which went home to my son. (Although I was still tempted to eat it all before getting home because it smelled so good in the car!) I got the Tropical Lemonade to wash it all down.. very good. I was very impressed when Mawa herself came out to introduce herself and find out how everything was.Excellent food and experience.. Don't let the road contruction deter you from getting there! I'm glad I found an alternate route!!
